Founder Speaks-

"The current scenario is great for genomics startups in India. Having realized the potential and power of genomics in managing covid, the government, both at the centre and state level are supporting startups with innovative ideas. There is a lot of excitement and interest from investors, and more importantly, technology giants are looking to tap the startup potential in India. The GE Edison Programme will allow us to leverage GE healthcare's deep expertise to build and integrate unique precision oncology solutions using GE's advanced Edison Artificial Intelligence and Analytics platform."
