

WHO prequalifies Strides Shasun's RAS product

from Medicines for Malaria Venture (MMV) and funding from Unitaid.

potentially life-saving intervention.

This pre-qualification enables countries to procure life-saving RAS with donor funding.

22	June	2018	П	News

Orug firm Strides Shasun has received pre-qualification from the World Health Organization (WHO) for its rectal artesunate roduct for the pre-referral management of severe malaria.

The pre-qualification from the WHO for the 100mg rectal artesunate suppositories (RAS) has been achieved with support

This pre-qualification enables countries to procure life-saving RAS with donor funding, thus ensuring increased access to this

The company will now leverage its significant presence in Africa to register and distribute the product where needed on the continent. To this end, dossiers have already been submitted in 25 of the countries that could benefit most.