"Lockdown is an intelligent strategy"- Dr Krishna Ella

31 March 2020 | Views

BioSpectrum India interacts with Dr Krishna Ella, Chairman & Managing Director, Bharat Biotech

"I feel the implementation of a lockdown in India is a very intelligent strategy to keep things in control as much as possible. India does not have the infrastructure to manage too many patients. If the disease spreads, things can go out of hand. So, it is the individual's responsibility to maintain social distancing. We will be lucky if the disease subsides by May or June."
