"Biotech industry is working towards a next gen cure for COVID-19"- Jahnabi Phookan

25 May 2020 | Views

Jahnabi Phookan, President Elect, FICCI (FICCI Ladies Organisation) talks about the ongoing COVID-19 crisis

"India’s biotechnology industry is working towards finding the next generation cure for COVID-19. Today, when we are in the midst of an unprecedented public health crisis, Covid-19 has put the entire globe into a slowdown but it looks like India handled the situation relatively well than other big and developed countries. We feel happy that our biotechnology industry is making sincere efforts towards finding solutions to tackle the pandemic with vaccines and medicines with the help from leading biotechnology companies in India.”
