Debjani Ghosh, President, NASSCOM, Gurugram shares her thoughts on the need to strengthen healthcare systems further post COVID-19

"A global crisis at this level has led to downturns, however, it has also led to business disruptions and transformations which have opened a plethora of opportunities to tenacious entrepreneurs. The Indian start-ups have continued to prove their resilience by developing solutions that would help society cope with the pandemic on a daily basis. It is partnerships that will pave the way for sustainable future ahead and ensure we emerge stronger than ever from this crisis."
