DIVOC Healthâ??s Ghaziabad lab receives NABL accreditation

27 April 2021 | News

NABL had conducted an inspection of the laboratory in April and has now issued the certification

DIVOC Health, a diagnostic startup, that recently launched its Ghaziabad lab has received National Accreditation Board for Testing and Calibration Laboratories (NABL) accreditation. NABL had conducted an inspection of the laboratory in April and has now issued the certification. The NABL certification will mean that the laboratory is standardised, and is carrying out all the procedures accurately as per the protocols.

Speaking of the importance of NABL certification, Dr Kanav Kahol, CEO, DIVOC Health said, “The accreditation is important for the laboratory as it ensures the quality testing and outcome. It is crucial that we provide accurate diagnosis to our patients and adhere to the technology standards set by us.”

DIVOC Health's business model centres around taking up standalone pathology labs.They plan to take up 100 labs under management in the next few years. As of now, the start-up collects around 600 tests every day and has helped more than 25000 happy customers. DIVOC has witnessed growth in the past year, and now is ready to expand across India.
