Vuram develops oxygen availability platform pan India

20 May 2021 | News

People in need of oxygen can search for the contact information of oxygen suppliers in their locality and directly get in touch with them

Vuram has built a platform where people in need of oxygen can search for the contact information of oxygen suppliers in their locality and directly get in touch with them.

Venkatesh Ramarathinam, CEO, Vuram, stated, “Through this initiative, we plan to save some critical time in this process, possibly the difference between life and death. Since the platform runs on validated information provided by people, we request everyone, especially oxygen suppliers to share the updated information to the website.”

On OxygenHall, data on oxygen availability will be available in real time connecting the people in need with the suppliers who can provide. Any feedback can be submitted to the site directly. Oxygen supplier/provider can share their contact details and availability to https://oxygenhall.in Vuram Foundation, Vuram’s CSR Trust, was formed in May 2019 under the Indian Trust Act to enhance and boost Vuram’s CSR initiatives.
