Quess Corp launches new health vertical

23 August 2021 | News

Signs MoU with Association of Healthcare Providers (India)

Quess Corp, a business services provider based in Bengaluru, has launched new healthcare vertical to address the shortage of healthcare professionals.

The vertical aims to provide trained healthcare manpower, home care solutions, and end-to-end hospital management services by identifying, training and upskilling healthcare professionals through a network of accredited medical training institutes, enabling quick and on-demand deployment.

Quess Corp has signed an MoU with the Association of Healthcare Providers (India) (AHPI), a not-for-profit representative body of healthcare providers, to evangelise formalisation of training and staffing services for healthcare professionals and create a talent marketplace for private and public healthcare institutions.

The collaboration aspires to create a pipeline of trained paramedical and healthcare service professionals through a proposed hire-train-deploy model, besides building a digital pool of highly skilled, experienced, ready-to-hire doctors across India.

It will also enable corporates to set up safer workspaces with adequate medical facilities and to train candidates with endorsements from reputed domestic and international accreditations.
