The platform will allow doctors, pharmacists/ patients and diagnostic centres on a single platform

A team of doctors has developed a mobile application that will provide digital, integrated and paperless healthcare services anywhere in India.

Medifree Digital is a Made in India healthcare mobile app that aims at making the medical profession paperless by providing to the patients integrated services of doctors, laboratories/diagnostic centres and chemists/pharmacists digitally. It is the first-of-its-kind application that brings doctors, pharmacists/ patients and diagnostic centres on a single platform, unlike most other applications.

The app is a comprehensive platform where allopathic, ayurvedic and homoeopathic doctors can all register and have access to complete medical records of the registered patients, though only with the consent of the patient.

Medifree Digital is a neutral platform as it does not promote any healthcare service provider – meaning it will not rate or recommend any doctor, laboratory or chemist to the patient. The patient will decide to select the service provider either those registered on the App or of their own choice.

Medifree Digital App provides videos showing the advantages of registering for the practitioners, patients, laboratories and chemists even before registration. All videos are available on Medifree YouTube channel also. A healthy person can also register on the App and keep his/her medical records as the App provides 12MB space free for the purpose. The App can be downloaded from Google Playstore and an iOS version would also be available soon.
