Health tech startup Even launches in Bengaluru

28 December 2021 | News

Now gearing up to launch in Delhi, Chennai and Mumbai

Even – a healthtech company and healthcare provider that partners directly with top hospitals to provide completely cashless, quality healthcare to its members – has opened to the public in Bengaluru.

Anyone who signs up and becomes a member can avail unlimited doctor consultations and diagnostics plus a yearly hospitalization cover of Rs 50 lakh. An Even member would not have to pay anything at the hospital and at the end, their hospital bill will be Rs 0. Memberships start at Rs 1500 a month.

The product launch closely follows Even's recent partnership with leading hospital chains in Bengaluru that include Narayana Health, Fortis Hospitals, and Aster DM Healthcare. Even has received a positive and encouraging response from over 40,000 waitlisted users who had early access to its services. After the launch in their home base of Bengaluru, the company is now gearing up to launch in multiple Tier 1 cities including Delhi, Chennai and Mumbai.

The company plans to rid India of out of pocket healthcare expenses and mitigate illnesses early on with appropriate medical interventions with its partner hospitals.
