Union Budget 2022-23 has given healthcare a much-needed digital push: India Health Link

01 February 2022 | Views

Dr Satyender Goel, Founder & CEO, India Health Link

"Union Budget 2022-23 has given healthcare a much-needed digital push. Rolling out an open platform for the National Digital Health Ecosystem, setting up of National TeleHealth Mental Scheme, incentivising start-ups, which would include health, and 'Drone Shakti' are innovative ideas and in the right direction. To further push the digital mission, it is vital for the government to partner with the private sector and use the technological innovations coming from creative start-ups in the field. A point noteworthy is the 'Drone Shakti' – a plan to encourage drone technology. This could be used in multiple ways in the healthcare segment too."
