Founder Speaks-

"With lack of innovation in the fitness hardware/ product category, we stepped up to create a futuristic product that allowed people to experience and immersive fitness experience with a supportive community. We came into existence to make fitness fun and accessible leaving you with a feeling of happiness.

At Cultbike, since the product was a combination of hardware, software, content etc., it was not easy to integrate the entire team remotely during the pandemic. However, having a team varied with the right skills has helped to successfully launch the best cardio machine that lets you explore possibilities endlessly in the sphere of home workouts."
