Doctors will be able to practice in a digital-friendly way

Bengaluru-based startup HealthPlix Technologies has released the mobile version of its AI-powered EMR. Available on all Android and iOS devices, HealthPlix 'EMR on Mobile' can be accessed through any smartphone, enabling real-time access to patients' information from anywhere, at any time.

Expanding its multi-channel strategy, HealthPlix's 'EMR on mobile' is free to use with no entry barrier, ensuring better care delivery in the most remote areas of India.

The "EMR on mobile" is built on the same architecture as the company's flagship AI-powered desktop EMR. Some features like automated follow-up cycles ensure doctors don't lose on patient health outcomes.
