21 April 2022 | News

To digitally transform Lupin's operations using AI

Flutura Business Solutions, an Industrial IoT Intelligence provider, is collaborating with global pharma major Lupin to accelerate its digital transformation and automation journey.

Lupin and Flutura will collaborate to create a massive pharmaceutical data lake as the foundation for configuring digital twins of mission-critical pharmaceutical processes as well as bolt-on battle-tested AI applications at scale that can sense and respond to events in real-time.

A digital data foundation will host data for all of Lupin's operational processes. Starting with manufacturing, quality and sales and marketing functions, it will expand to finance and supply chain functions until all the information converges into a Central Data Lake.

Flutura will support Lupin in accelerating its AI journey and develop advanced analytics and high-value use cases to uncover actionable insights from the massive data lake.
