Camex Wellness introduces menstrual pain relief device WELME

21 April 2022 | News

The device has been developed to provide comfort to menstruating females suffering from period cramps

Camex Wellness has introduced a wearable, and easy-to-carry device that uses TENS (Transcutaneous Electrical Nerve Stimulation) technology to relieve period pain - WELME. The device has been developed to provide comfort to menstruating females suffering from period cramps, which are also scientifically known as Dysmenorrhea.

Preksha Chopra, Founder - Welme, “My R&D and design team have managed to incorporate the smart technology of TENS into a pocket-size product."
