25 April 2022 | News

MEDNAwise can also be used as a predictive personalised medication guide

Pune-based Indus Health Plus is expanding its genetic testing portfolio by launching MEDNAwise, a genetic solution in precision medicine. MEDNAwise testing helps to understand which drug suits best, manage treatment and increase its effectiveness. It can also be used as a predictive personalised medication guide for those who like to be one step ahead.

The MEDNAwise testing is based on pharmacogenomics, a study that uses your genetic information to predict your response to certain drugs/medicines. This can help the doctors prescribe safer and more effective medication.

MEDNAwise is saliva based user-friendly genetic test which can be done from the comfort of home. It is designed for all age groups and has 11 categories and 72 medicines covered related to different health departments
