Enters into partnership with UK-based SRAM & MRAM Group

UK-based, global conglomerate, SRAM & MRAM Group have announced their collaboration with Hyderabad-based healthcare R&D company Medmokk Enterprises.

With the pact in place, the joint venture will work extensively in the healthcare domain. The group will be investing in the R&D and expansion of the current portfolio.

Medmokk is a leading R&D company involved in the healthcare industry with a specific focus on general medicine, dental medicine and allied activities. They are the producers of Aquaox solution and Dhvani, a low-cost hearing device. Recently, Medmokk introduced India's first, patented "Oral health Remote Screening Device".

The collaboration between SRAM & MRAM Group and Medmokk Enterprises aims to reach out to a larger audience with cutting-edge technology.

"The collaboration will help us to ascertain the market leadership in the Healthcare vertical. With the patented technology and advanced R&D in Oral health, it will certainly help us to produce innovative tech healthcare products," quoted NVR Suresh, Executive Director, SRAM & MRAM Group.
