To assist local startups and consult foreign companies looking to invest in India

Holborn Wells India, an in-vitro diagnostics (IVD) manufacturing company, has launched a Pharmaceutical & Medical Devices Regulatory consulting division to assist local startups and consult foreign companies looking to invest in India in the pharma and medical device sector.

Over the last few months, Holborn Wells India had multiple queries from various Indian startups as well as from Europe & North America related to the regulatory landscape and setting up a manufacturing base in India.

The company is not only able to assist with documentation as per CDSCO guidelines, but with the extensive technical and regulatory experience as a medical device manufacturer, The company can deliver end-to-end services including technical, legal and contract manufacturing services through the channel partners. The intent is to assist the nation in attracting Foreign Direct Investments and act as a catalyst to support 'Start-up India' initiative set up by Prime Minister Narendra Modi.
