Leadership Webinar Series for healthcare and hospital professionals

In a path-breaking initiative aimed at elevating the quality and standards of healthcare and hospital leadership as well as patient experience and outcomes, Bengaluru-based startup MedLern has organised and hosted a series of leadership webinars for healthcare professionals.

Under the Series, the country's leading digital learning solutions provider for hospitals and healthcare professionals has sought to cover a range of topics in healthcare and hospital administration, management, service and operational excellence in the country.

With some of the most distinguished industry leaders and experts participating in this Series and delivering presentations for a rapt online audience, the live webinar sessions have been a roaring success attended by thousands of healthcare professionals across the country.

MedLern has already conducted three webinars under this Series. While the first two webinars were aimed at catalysing institutional advancements at the level of hospitals and healthcare facilities, the third was targeted at personal skilling and upskilling of healthcare professionals.

"We want to create a powerful and independent platform for healthcare thought leaders and MedLern's unique reach of 400 plus hospitals and one lakh healthcare sector employees provides just that. The series serves to not just educate but also stimulate new conversations on the opportunities and challenges facing healthcare leaders with globalization, digital transformation and innovation emerging as key themes to profit from", said Deepak Sharma, Co-founder and CEO, MedLern
