MAHE & Roche Diagnostics India ink MoU to establish CoE for skill development

24 June 2024 | News

For advancements in healthcare directing to better patient care and disease management

Manipal Academy of Higher Education (MAHE) and Roche Diagnostics India have signed a Memorandum of Understanding (MoU) to establish a Centre of Excellence (CoE).

The Centre of Excellence aims to offer skill development and innovation in the field of diagnostics. Through this collaboration, both stakeholders are looking towards a significant step to strengthen the academia and industry to improve healthcare diagnostics.

This collaborative effort will focus on developing advanced diagnostic tools and training healthcare professionals to use cutting-edge technologies. Further, MAHE experts will present their insights on advanced lab technologies and clinical assays at national and international Continuing Medical Education (CME) programmes and seminars.

The Centre of Excellence will act as a medium for executing pioneering research, sharing knowledge and facilitating workshops to foster a culture of innovation and excellence in diagnostics. The collaboration will offer significant advancements in healthcare, eventually directing to better patient care and disease management.
