

Naz Haji takes over as head of Quintiles India

25 June 2015 | News | By BioSpectrum Bureau

Naz Haji takes over as head of Quintiles India

Based out of Quintiles' office in Bangalore, Mr Naz Haji will be responsible for providing vision, strategic business and technology direction, and operational capabilities to support the company's growth across india and Asia.

Mr Haji currently holds a dual role as the country CEO for India, and SVP and CIO Asia. He joined Quintiles in 2006 as Vice President, Global IT in Research Triangle Park, North Carolina, leading Global Infrastructure and Operations. During this time, he led the consolidation and globalization of the Global Information Technology function instituting key processes, functions and delivery capability resulting in world-class performance, quality and stability. In 2007, he was promoted to Senior Vice President.

Bringing more than 25 years of experience in international business systems, technology, process re-engineering and consulting, Mr Naz Haji has been a key leader within multiple industries, including pharmaceutical, manufacturing, utilities, oil and gas, engineering and aerospace. His experience also spans the globe having worked and lived in North America, Asia, Africa, Europe and the Middle East.

Born in Tanzania and raised in Canada, Naz earned his degree in business from York University in Toronto.