

Lupin, Acceliant tie-up for clinical research

27 February 2015 | News | By BioSpectrum Bureau

Lupin, Acceliant tie-up for clinical research

Lupin has announced that it has partnered with Bangalore-based Acceliant. As per the deal, Lupin would leverage Acceliant's clinical trial platform for its clinical research and trials across Lupin research programs.

"This is an excellent platform for us to showcase our eClinical suite of products that deliver end-to-end clinical trial data management solutions. Together, we hope to raise the level of clinical trial efficiency," said Mr Ven Thangaraj, CTO, Acceliant in a statement.

Acceliant's platforms ensure execution of clinical data management activities such as database design and various report formats for business intelligence.

"Acceliant's eClinical suite will go a long way in helping us to cost-effectively streamline and expedite our clinical trial processes," said Mr Ravishekar Kasibhatta, VP, Lupin.