BPL Medical Technologies appoints Rupini Raman as Head â?? Human Capital

11 May 2026 | News

Rupini brings over 18 years of experience across startups and multinational organisations

BPL Medical Technologies, India’s leading medical equipment brand with a 50-year legacy under the BPL Group, has appointed Rupini Raman as Head – Human Capital, strengthening its leadership team as the company accelerates its growth, expands its portfolio, and deepens its presence in the evolving MedTech sector.

Rupini brings over 18 years of experience across startups and multinational organizations, with a track record of building high-performance teams and leading people transformation initiatives.

In her new role, she will be responsible for shaping BPL Medtech’s human capital strategy, with a focus on building a future-ready workforce aligned with the company’s growth ambitions.

The appointment comes at a time when BPL Medical Technologies is scaling both its operational and technological capabilities. As the lines between healthcare and technology continue to converge, the company is focused on attracting and nurturing talent that can operate at this intersection; bringing together domain expertise with digital fluency.

In her role, Rupini will focus on attracting, integrating, and retaining talent capable of thriving in a technology-driven healthcare environment. She will also work closely with leadership to strengthen organisational culture, enhance capability building, and ensure the company’s people strategy keeps pace with its business priorities.
