11 June 2026 | News

With plans to enter 8â??10 additional countries over the next 12â??18 months

Bengaluru-based startup 4baseCare has raised a total of Rs 128 crore ($13.3 million) in funding, co-led by investors Ashish Kacholia and Lashit Sanghvi, with participation from existing backers Yali Capital, Infosys & growX ventures.

This helps spearhead plans to expand the startup's hospital-linked genomics lab network across India, the Middle East, Southeast Asia, Latin America, and Central Asia.

A significant portion of the capital will be utilised to scale its AI-driven precision oncology platform OncoTwin, to help oncologists derive treatment insights using clinico-genomic and real-world patient data.
